Jim, I can talk at 4 pm.

No, we have not received the debtor production. I don't care whomever they come from. But we will agree to treat as AEO, without prejudice, including with respect to the position I have articulated this morning.

Thanks Ben for the clarification. Happy to discuss the parameters around that. I know you offered 11:00 to meet and confer, but my schedule today is back to back until the afternoon. Is there a good time for a call this afternoon in the 4-6pm range?

In the meantime, have you received what has been produced so far to UCC counsel? At least for the Debtor-produced documents, we can agree that Quinn can have access to those even before our discussion this afternoon. If you have not received them from UCC counsel and would like for us to send, let me know and we can arrange that.

Best,

J.I.M.

Jim,

Thank you for asking for clarification. We are asking that the PEO designation be lifted so that Blue Owl and its advisors can review the materials. It is appropriate for the §1103 duties of a committee to be placed solely on retained professionals. That's not who the UST appointed to, nor who Congress contemplated would, serve the role of estate fiduciary to unsecured creditors.

In our view, the designation should be lifted for all committee members, but that is an ask that should come from committee counsel. So we are asking for our client (so that at least one principal-fiduciary) can serve its function.

Ben —

On your first request, when you say "we" do you mean just attorneys at QE or are you also asking to be able share the documents with the client? Let me know.

On number 2, I am confirming, but I believe that will be a question that the lenders will need to weigh in on.

Ben –

Adding others at DPW regarding your second request.

I will follow up on the first request.

All,

We are co-counsel to committee member, Blue Owl. We write with two urgent requests for each of your clients.

Please let us know by noon tomorrow, 10/30, whether you agree to:

1. Lift the professional-eyes-only designation you have placed on materials produced to the UCC so that we can review the production and/or impending production.
2. Extend the Challenge Deadline in the DIP Order to 11/21/24.

Both requests are solely as to committee member, Blue Owl.

If you believe meet and confer would be of utility, we are available to discuss tomorrow at 11:00 am ET.
